

Sanjay Mehta

Consultant

Sanjay is based in Singapore, he is a masterful and engaging facilitator, in both virtual and in-person settings, and facilitates courses for Interworks clients throughout Asia. He has an extensive background in consulting, technology, talent management, and leadership. He is a natural problem solver and loves serving people in their work and personal lives.

Sanjay spent the first 20 years of his career in the technology world, including nearly a decade at Microsoft. In addition to working with Interworks, he also owns his own successful consulting firm in Singapore, delivering leadership and talent development. He has a degree in Computer Science and Economics from Indiana University Bloomington and is certified in various psychometric tools such as MBTI, Workplace Big5 and Emergenetics. He is a certified coach by the Neuroleadership Institute, as well as a Lego SeriousPlay Facilitator.