

Neven Campodonico

Facilitator

Neven is a consultant based in Peru and oversees the Latin American market for the company. She has delivered work in Europe, Latin America, and the US, as well as traveling to and living in many different countries over the years. Her background in communication and her many cultural experiences give her unique reference points to help serve her clients.

Neven loves her work and is passionate about helping people create the life they want to live by doing the things that make their life worth living. Her goal is helping those who really want to make a change. She particularly loves working with clients 1:1 to help bring order to overwhelmed lives. Getting things in order is one of her specialties and she brings this into every aspect of her life. She loves to spend time with her young son and enjoys travel, film, and photography.
